RCN Wales: One world one profession - strengthening global nursing

Thursday 5 December 2024, 10am - 3pm

RCN Wales Headquarters, Ty Maeth, Cardiff, CF14 4XZ

FREE for all nursing roles working in any sector and nursing students to attend

The RCN recognises the enormous contribution internationally educated nursing staff make to health and social care, and the specific challenges they face before and while working in the UK.

Join us for this event - we'd like to hear about your experiences and the challenges you face, and use the information you provide to learn how we can better support you.

We will also use the chance to highlight how we can already support you with existing RCN resources.

You are welcome to attend whether you were educated internationally, have international roots, or work on an international stage.

Join our listening event and:

- network with other internationally educated nurses (IENs), and international nursing students, share stories and experiences
- have your say – take part in our listening event and Q&A with speakers
- find out more about RCN member benefits, including workplace protection, professional development, and our campaigns for fair pay and safe staffing
- Keynote speaker from the Chief Nursing Officers for Wales office
- hear about what the RCN is doing for international nursing
