

FAIR PAY
FOR NURSING

A photograph of a female nurse in a light blue uniform, wearing blue gloves, smiling as she holds a baby in a hospital bed. The baby is lying in a white cot, and the nurse is holding a clear plastic bottle. In the background, there are medical monitors and equipment.

Protect your loved ones. Protect nursing

Right now, there are thousands of nursing vacancies in your local NHS and tens of thousands across the UK. Without enough nursing staff, patient care suffers.

We are calling for fair pay to:

- recruit staff and fill the thousands of vacancies
- retain experienced staff across the NHS
- recognise the skill and responsibility of nursing

Nursing staff are burnt out – struggling with the cost of living at home and the shortage of staff at work.

Nursing staff welcome us into the world, save and rebuild our lives, maintain our health, and stand beside us in our final moments. Nursing will always be there for you.

Will you stand up for nursing?

 SAFE STAFFING SAVES LIVES

FAIR PAY
FOR NURSING

Nursing and patients are at risk

Copyright Dr JD Williamson

Across the UK, ministers are choosing not to pay nursing what it deserves and needs. Nursing salaries are being outstripped by inflation.

Nursing has faced a decade of underfunding. NHS and social care services need your support.

Join the fight for fair pay today.

rcn.org.uk/PayAction

 SAFE STAFFING
SAVES LIVES